Class History

Almost everybody remembers that during the afternoon of the 21st of September, 1938, a fierce hurricane left its indelible mark on almost every village and town in New England. What everybody does not remember, however, is that only a few weeks previous to this almost unprecedented event, four hundred and thirty-four subtle sophomores had breezed into F. H. S. to assume their first real positions of responsibility. This invasion would seem to be unimportant, but such was not and is not the case, and we hope to prove so conclusively in this article. From the first day of school until the middle of October, we were seen but not heard. At that time, however, we ate our way into the hearts of the seniors in a most expensive manner at the Senior-Sophomore dance. Our first big accomplishment was electing as our class advisor, Miss Emily Hall. At the same time that we extend our most sincere thanks for all she has done for us during these three years, we wish her every success in her chosen field of matrimony.

Towards the end of our first year, we elected class officers. We were the first class to use the new method of elections devised and adopted by the Student Council. Our leaders were James Ward, president; Teresa Maschi, vice-president; Irene Buianowski, secretary; and Daniel Sullivan, treasurer.

In the fall of 1939, four hundred and one judicious juniors answered the roll call at dear old F. H. S. We proceeded to elect the same class officers, but Joan Lynch replaced Irene Buianowski as secretary in the middle of the year. Through the year we helped with such worthy projects as the Christmas Box Drive, the Student Association membership drive, sports activities and the school publications. We voted in favor of retaining the design for class rings and pins selected by the three previous junior classes. We ended Junior-Senior week by presenting, positively, the most successful Junior Prom in the history of the school, from both the standpoint of profit realized and enjoyment dispensed. We ended our second year at F. H. S. by helping the Seniors with most impressive graduation exercises.

On September 9, 1940, three hundred and fifty significant seniors fought for and gained admission to F. H. S. for the third time in as many years. The results of our class elections were as follows: Charles Alexander, president; Marjorie Willard, secretary; Teresa Maschi, vice-president; and Daniel Sullivan, treasurer. In the fall we gave a dance in honor of the sophomores. Music was by Marty White and his band, NOT from the usual phonograph records. Later in the fall, we gave another dance, in honor of the football team, this time. The hall was effectively decorated with dummy football players. The home room director became a thing of the past, when the S. C. authorized the organization of a Boosters' Club, with Mr. Riordan as its advisor. Each home room elected one boy and one girl representative to the club. In this year's Christmas Box Drive, the Boosters established a new record for boxes filled and families cared for. On April 25, with the aid and assistance of Miss Neal, that supercolossal production "June Mad" was presented to a full house. Our better actors and actresses, led by Pauline Rocheford and James Geehan, left us many pleasant memories of a dazzling, daring gown and a homemade

Class Prophecy

"Step right up," bellowed the barker stationed outside a strangely erected puppet. This was exactly what Joe Ferro and I did as we meandered around the spacious campus surrounding the Framingham Academy of Co-Educational Improvement at their carnival, similar to the one given by that illustrious, diligent, supercolossal class of 1941. Escorted by Irene Buianowski and Marjorie Willard, we displayed our fee for admission and hustled through a dimly lighted, dismal enclosure, to be suddenly confronted by a dazzling light, a gorgeous pool of variegated colors, into which was staring a motley arrayed prophetic of uncanny knowledge. True, this is the year of 1961, the four of us are reunited on a once familiar landscape. Yet what of our other endeared colleagues who individually and collectively made our class, and indeed our school, the greatest ever to exist? But let us ask this eminent prognosticator about our friends. She straightens, rises and bids us to be seated, then resumes her original position. Yes, it is the renowned, professional fortune teller Madame Phyllis Murphy. In answer to our demands, she summons her superhuman powers and presents to us our now widely scattered classmates.

William Almeda is editor of a large South American Paper, the "Brazil Nut," whose chief photographer is William Nelson. Next she calls to mind James Scribner, who is running a one-acre petunia farm, with Sammy Pezza boss over weeders Ralph Ghetti and Eligio Ferri. Near by are John Cocker's dog training kennels, which are noted for their Cocker Spaniels. A wide expanse managed by President Curtis Mitchell of the "Junction to Montwait" airlines serves as a landing field for pilots Philip Stevens and Gordon Hodg- don, flying planes designed by Stanley Crawford. It is around this field that Ray Furbish and Edward Parker had finally turned in a four-minute mile (but that was on a bicycle).

Our view is changed to Saxonville, where George Driscoll, that red-headed iceman, and his employee, Bernie Keeffe, deliver ice to their slogan of "Every man may have his wife, but the ice man has his pick." A loud blare blasts us to attention as former trumpeter Clif Carter calls the horses to the starting post, where "Spongy" Cavatorta is the leading jockey at "Up-Downs," managed by Esquire William Colonna. Also brought to our attention is the new football play invented by Malcom Brenner, called the "Brenner Pass" and first used by Dana Holbrook, coach at "Don't Be Technical." The head caddy at the Golf Links is Joe-Joe Liberatori, while Francis Towne is chief retriever of lost golf balls. Patsy Mesite and Robert Dow have proved unsuccessful in the wall paper business because they couldn't get the hang of it. Richard DeMille, old time woodchopper, now runs an escort bureau in Natick, with Robert Capstick and Frederick Horan as outstanding gigolos.

Sheldon Whittemore, the famous electrician, employs Ernest Sibson, former master electrician and physicist at F. H. S. His motto is "Well done—Sheldon."

Ray Avery has entered the mattress business and turns out a A-very good product, with Dulcey Dadmun as chief seamstress. Paul Columbia has taken over Brockelman's store, but is worried over the tax on peanuts. However, floor-walker Donald Crump and errand boy Ralph Haynes are relieving him of these added burdens.

Leaving Madam Murphy we entered the luxuriously furnished building where janitors Dante Valentini and Anthony Zickella are shooing flies off that honorable portrait of the class of '41.

Elevator boy Robert Gallagher transports us to Principal Richard Harrington's office, where Jane Vial rules as private secretary. Here he directs us to the spacious swimming pool, where Richard Harwood and Francis Barley are instructors. Soothing music penetrates our ears. Professor Emeritus Chester Hughes, new high school music instructor, is directing Justine Dyer, former cellist and assistant at the rhythm sticks, to the music of Tchaikovsky's final finale of the Ninth Symphony.

Next we enter a modern laboratory, where Sir Roland Avery teaches physics à la mode and thermal dynamics. At the present he is demonstrating his television set. Edward DeLage and James Doran are chief switch closers. He first flashes on David Bell, famous radio singer, whose theme song is the "Bells of Saint Mary's." Next we see James Gechan, editor of the Framingham Snews (Snooze), where Warren Johnson is ace sports writer. Robert Fair is now a weather reporter atop Mt. Nobscot, but doesn't live up to his name. Ernest Magrini and George Piga have returned to barbarism and have opened a barber shop. Harry Welton, Mayor of District 7, has just brought Nobscot under his jurisdiction, where Kathleen Woodworth is happily enjoying her married life. Donald Raymond is having his ups and downs as an elevator boy. Richard Saulnier is a trigonometric parallelepiped professor at "Temperature Normal," and finds that the easiest way to cancel pi is to eat it. Richard Lowry, having proved Einstein's fourth dimensional theory of evolution, has taken a professorship at "U. Rascal U." Mario Treveloni is running a morra league, with Bruno Moscatelli as chief finger thrower. George Tynes has lived up to his name and produced a "one-tyne-fork." Walter Shaw, the modern "Charles Atlas," promises through his disciple, Thomas Coyne, "to make you a man in seven days." Daniel Cella had hoped to be a miner, but when he reached the age of twenty-one he became exempt. Ray Sullivan is moving furniture in his famous Sully-Van. J. J. Ryan, President of the Dublin-Coburnville Scenic R. R. line, has been compelled by Federal Inspector Leonard Hawkins to raise engineer John Leach's pay. Valerie Yeaton is leading an all-girl swing band in which saxophonists Jeanne Harper and Connie Ward display their "sax" appeal. Their records may be secured at the new Beaver Street Police Station, where James Gormley acts in the capacity of police commissioner. Dorothy Cella is teaching cooking, but almost lost her job when she was boiling water and burnt it. Norman "Gabby" Hartnett has taken over "Uncle Ned's Variety Show" and is touring the country. Incidentally, Merle Abbott is his prima donna.

Donald Langley, after having passed the bar, has now attained the status of judge. However, he more nearly resembles a weather man, for, it's—fine today, cooler tomorrow. He has recently punished alderman Walter Dauphinee of Lokerville for exceeding the speed limit of 80 mph. on the Avenue. Josephine Murray, poet laureate of Framingham, has just completed her most famous poem, entitled "Parlor, Kitchen, and Zinck," in commemoration of private secretary Viola Zinck's birthday. Arlene Martin is the president of the Anti-Pipe Smokers League of this town. Janet Waters and Pauline Lake are the mainstays of the United States Olympic swimming team. Mildred Milligan, player-manager of the Framingham Giggolettes girls' softball team, announces the purchase of two star pitchers from the Pacific Coast, namely, Barbara Twomey and noted pianist, Marcia Spaulding. Bruna Misaggia has remained home on the range, posing as the proprietor of a flourishing bakery business, successful because of the efforts of advertising manager Elaine Rabinovitz. Robert Chandler has passed up a movie contract to become a salesman for the 15 Karat Gold Fish Company.

To continue our adventures at the Carnival of 1961, I shall recount more about our classmates. Jay Gordon has taken over the managership of his father's dress factory, where Barbara McFarland and Pauline McKay are models, and June Morse is a dress designer. Grace Tryon is also employed here to try on every new gown that June designs. Next we see Sergeant Kenneth Sargent, who has attained that distinguished rank in the army. Mary McLellan, Eileen Otenti, and Marguerite Southwick, now nurses in the army, are under the supervision of Doctor Charles Savage, M.D. X. Marguerite Behan and Mary Foley have become very popular hostesses at a Naval recruiting station.

After seeing many of my classmates through the crystal ball, I decided to leave the tent where the fortune teller was. Walking around outside of the tent I suddenly became quite sleepy and sat on a chair near by to rest. In a few moments I had fallen asleep, and I will tell you what I dreamed. First, I saw a huge new skyscraper located where Brockelman's was. On every window shone the name of Eddie Lembo who, supposed to be a noted loan shark, has computed a ten easy payment scheme, so organized that John Hickson does all the collecting. Next door Robert Clark, former soda jerker, now runs the famous club called "The Get-Together," where John R. Mahoney checks coats and rhapsody. Marcella Brennan and June Arnold make charming waitresses at the club. Kathleen Donnelly is a distinguished opera singer at the new Framingham Opera House, which has long since taken the place of the good old St. George. Virgil Proctor manages and finances the highly successful Framingham Opera Company.

My dream suddenly transported me to the icy Arctic, where Sylvia Nedell and Mildred Perlmutter have gone so that they can go coasting all year round and at the same time freeze out their worries and cares. Marguerite Taylor captained the sailing vessel, with Barbara Welch as first mate, on which they traveled to the frigid zone. With a rush I found myself back on Concord Street, where I saw Elaine Abbot, Dorothy Atwell, and Jacqueline Shira, usherettes at the New Hill's theatre, managed by Ruby and Margaret Hill. Priscilla Woodworth, Claire Allen and Betty Beatrice, I suddenly visualize undertaking an exploring expedition into the heart of the Nobscot region, with Florence Shockett and Anna Vella acting as guides.

Dorothy Tinney and Doris Mauke I picture in New York where they are at the famed Parisian Art school run by Mademoiselle Marjorie Jessaman, now located on this side of the Atlantic. Florence Rallis and Irene Savi serve as air hostesses on Norman Vogt's huge new passenger liner, whose hangar is located not far from the art school. Jane Winters runs a summer home on Long Island, where Rose Canali and Berkeley Young are employed as chambermaids. Teresa Maschi and Edna Murphy I see touring the country, lecturing on "How to Get Your Man" in six easy lessons, with Mary Tersoni as their maid. Louise Splaine and Rita Paradis are writing for nationally famous comic strips called "Catch Me If You Can." Back to Framingham with a whiz and I see experienced teachers at the beautiful modern Framingham High School, two of whom are Gladys Turner and Hazel Eaton. Elizabeth Webb and Louise Hoban are running an antique shop, where they are selling their school books of '41. Around the corner Lina Hill and Agnes Guerra are running a rest home for bankrupt, broken-hearted glamour girls of Broadway. Some of the first customers were Mary Tobin and Irene Hollander, former actresses, playing in a picture produced by Richard McGrath. Muriel Bell, Alice Young and Lucy Brunnetta are working as housemaids on the estate of Eileen Bemis. As I walked around the grounds, to my surprise I saw Gloria Harris and Marguerite Gray pulling weeds out of the garden which has been kept so neatly by Jimmy Welch, who is an ace-one gardener.

As I glanced across the street I saw Mary Lill and Rita Brillhart perched on the limb of an apple tree. Standing in the middle of the road was none other than officer Bob Monahan trying to give a ticket to Mary Moran, who was speeding. Eva Carreia, Edith Femia, and Anne Giallombardi were all sitting on the lawn, knitting sweaters for the Red Cross. After seeing all these friends in my dream, I started toward the town. On the way I saw Helen Whitehouse, now happily married, sweeping off the front steps of her little white cottage. She told me that Mary Luminari, Nellie Croatti and Mary Mackey are working as telephone operators. Josephine Bengiovanni, Florence Billings and Patricia Condon are also working in the Telephone Co. as messenger girls. Marjorie Erickson and Pearl Miller are employed as social workers, and I do mean social work. As I walked down the street my attention was drawn to an art shop window display featuring a beautiful portrait of Roberta Patten in water color. In the lower corner I was just able to distinguish the tiny letters of my classmate Armida Brizzolesi. Lydia Mercorelli, blushing petite as formerly, banged happily away on a typewriter in the background.

Ugo Abelli has established himself as dictator of Coburnville, with Ablino Antonio as his stooge and Rose Franchi as his secretary. Vincent Dangelo is professional golfer at Louis Trottier's miniature golf course. Warren (Bean-ball) Smith has obtained a job of yelling "fore" at each hole. Bidding farewell to Sir Avery we leave the building and are greeted at the door by groundkeeper Francis Jewell, who informs us that our former classmate, Irene Buianowski, now operates the famous "Madame Renée's Fur Salon" in New York on Fifth Avenue. She employs many of her friends, including Anna Morrissey, who is the head mistress of the models, Gloria Gorman, June Hastings and Rita Maplebeck. Donald Gillis sweeps up all moths picked off furs by Kenneth Giacomuzzi. Incidentally, Alexander Mole-onek supplies the shop with the skunk furs which he traps. He also notifies us that Muriel Bullard is running a rodeo out in Texas, with Cowboy Arthur Liberatore as foreman and Thomas Kane as instructor of dudes.

We hail a cab driven by Barney Cirioni, who is working for the Speedy Taxi Service run by Charles Muto. We whiz past Irwin Dershowitz's Women's Clothes Shoppe, trading in dresses patterned by Mary Casella. His coat hangers are made by carpenter James Copithorne. Barney relates to us that Gus Bartoli is chief grave digger at the Happy Hunting Grounds Cemetery, supervised by Arthur Martins, who is trying to increase the death rate.

The cab stops in the business district of our famous town and we step out and start to walk the busy streets. Our eyes meet with the name of one of our classmates, "Salak's Slick Window Service." We greet this person only to find it is not John Salak but Charles Sage, who is employed by this big business man. We reach the Luxurious Park and hear quite a loud rumpus. We hurry nearer and see cop Mario Sannicandro hitting a poor fellow on the head while he is stretched out asleep on the bench. Mario finally belts out a good clout and Sleepy John J. Mahoney rolls off the bench and awakens. After these disturbances the crowd disperses and we see, much to our amazement, none other than Marion Lewis and Stanley Kittredge, still in the courting stage, sit down on this now unoccupied bench. Continuing our walk we see a man perched on a soap box, swinging his arms, trying to sell something. Being interested, we approached this orator, to see Edward Garceau trying to sell to the public a bottle of body builder-upper. Standing beside him is John White, who we see is an example of what this firewater is capable of doing. Our appetite getting the better of us, we step into "The Better Duck Inn" restaurant. Going through the door, we toss our gum towards the gutter, where we observe street cleaner Dominic Merloni, who is constantly on the job. Proceeding through the doorway, we are greeted by proprietor William Ferriter, who beckons head waitress Margareta Peterson to show us to our table. Our food is ordered and as we look around we see Theresa Peveri's head bob back and forth by the hole in the kitchen door. At the end of our table is a nickelodion; in it we place a lead nickel, and the romantic voice of our "Sun-kist" Phyllis Walsh reaches our ears. Through her courteous coöperation, we hear a new ballad entitled "When the Humming Bird Returns to Framingham," composed and sung by Mary Young. Our food, which finally is served, is known as the "Ducky Wucky Special," nothing but roast chicken created by Dan Murphy.

After our bite we leave this place of Fresher Finer Foods to see a large window, across which is painted in gaudy letters, "How to Stay a Bachelor." Now fully interested, we walk in, to be greeted by none other than Robert Clinton, who employs as his ace bachelors Joc Fedolfs, Edward F. Parker, and Arthur Perham, who has divorced Eilene Sullivan. The shock being too much for us, we hastily leave and are about to enter a long, shiny black car when John Saunders hops from the driver's seat and informs us that the car is owned by wealthy cigar maker Saul Lodgen, who makes the familiar "El Cab-bego" cigars. Unable to find any vacant taxis, we start to walk and are attracted by a new skyscraper being created by Joseph Nicoli's Construction Company. Balancing on one of the girders, Joseph Bertolino is trying to eat his lunch with one hand, catch rivets with the other, and hang on when he has time. Tufanio Taralli is on the ground, heating and throwing the rivets to Joe, at the same time dodging wheelbarrows pushed by Roy Gilmore, Charles Babuka, and Richard Delage. John Speer offers us a drink from the water pail which he carries around trying to make an honest living. Having trouble with the machinery, Nicoli sends his right-hand man, William Tomkinson, over for new parts to Jimmy Phipps' junk yard, and orders his left-hand man, George Sydow (who recently tried to start a race track at Dennison Dump, but failed, due to the trouble from the dump rats), to dismantle the broken machinery. Leaving this scene we are intent on seeing the residential and farming districts of Framingham. Before we leave the town we stop at Ronald Neitz's Donut Shop and are waited on by Louise Tosti, as Neitz and Patrick Ceccarini are busy making pastry behind the big glass window front, so busy they don't see us. Coming through the door we see that Bernard Featherstone is still walking the streets selling papers. Being old friends, we buy a paper, hand him a nickel, and say, "Keep the change."

As we walk along the sidewalk, we see Alcide Belloli sitting in a car and we hurry over to greet him. Finally after a wearying conversation he asks to take us for a ride. All agreeing, we pile in, only to get a flat. Since none of us wants to get dirty, we use another lead nickel to call up Ray Gentili's Master Service Station. With a few seconds left to sip a soda, we advance towards the Crown, which is still the hang-out. There we order a soda from Walter

Bowen, who is employed by this establishment. When we ask if he knows about the rest of our beloved class, he starts to relate what he knows. Alden Lord has finally purchased the Abner Wheeler House after slaving for twenty years as the dish washer. He has hired Rose Messana and Levern Whitman as glass and pot washers respectively. Emma Zonak and Louise Barani walk in and inform us of their new establishment, "Ye Old Date Shoppe."

Returning to the car, we see Albert Grover under the car and Severino Grandoni on the running board, instructing Grover on how to dismount a tire. So, after more minutes of tiresome waiting we start on our ride. We ride down the Avenue and see Frank Wood going around the Union Avenue track trying to break Furbish's mile on a scooter. Proceeding towards Sax, we see Francis McCann running a prosperous "Soy Bean" farm for Henry Ford, and Richard Avery and Henry Bersanini as his ace weeders. Continuing along the road, we see John Ford and Hugh Hunter chugging along in a Model-T Ford. Vin Kelly, who is running along the road, tells us that these two gentlemen are trying their hardest to bring the Model-T back into its own again. The next farm we come to is painted a bright red and looks inviting, so our driver turns in. Out in the field are Marjorie Wheat and Edith Tullio, digging in a worn-out potato patch. Getting out from the car, we start to enter the cowbarn and are almost knocked over by Henry Hickson, who is carrying milk. But, alas, we see our own Don Kinsman, who has always wanted to be a farmer, finally achieve his life's ambition. He is busy pitching hay into a wagon driven by Robert Jackson. Seeing and smelling enough of the barnyard, we again enter our car to continue our ride through the suburbs of our town. Remembering our paper, we start to read, and notice a picture of Audrey Hofmann on a golf course, hacking at the ball, trying to keep her score below 150. Marjorie Willard is seen walking the back roads arm in arm with a retired sailor boy who is quite new to us. We stop and ask her for directions to Sherborn Village, but she fails to introduce us to the sailor. Arriving in Sherborn, we are glad to hear that Julian Empey, who is running a turkey farm, has finally become mayor. He tells us of Frances Doyle, who has refused offer after offer of marriage, for she prefers to remain a spinster and live on the income brought in by selling eggs.

When we reached the golf course we found that groundkeeper Charles Davis had just completed rolling the courts. The United States Tennis Champion, Lena Belloli, strolled into view with her personal secretaries, Mildred Casey and Rita Collins. Gym teachers Harriet Blandin and June Lynch were on hand to cheer Lena, as were United States Senator Charles Alexander, with his bodyguard John Good, lawyer Richard Karb, and radio singers, Dorothy Gittleson and Doris Cotter. Photographer Leland Gray, Jr., snapped a few shots of Miss Belloli and some of the other notables and then hustled off. Robert Orchard and his assistant, Francis Mathieu, were present with their ambulance and ever active nurses, Ruth Willard, Helen Hoban and Eva Howland.

Returning from the match, we refueled at Molly Angier's husband Joe's Filling Station, where attendant John Corley washed our window and his helper Ernest Dow shined the boys' shoes.

Salesman Francis Ferrick, who was selling newspapers, brought to our attention several articles written by Virginia Gahm. It is rumored that she develops her extensive vocabulary with the assistance of head librarian Constance Durkee and her assistant Barbara Clark. Her feature article presented Theodore Hawkins, the modern "Babe" Ruth, whom owner Arthur Cunningham had just sold to the "Nobsco-

Indians" for four wheatie box tops and Catcher Alfred Antul. Manager John Mangini was highly elated over this purchase and hoped to put out a pennant winner this season. However, Boyd MacKinnon's "Waverley Boys" are still in the race.

An advertisement in the paper has Pro-roller skater Alice Urban skating to the music of "satchel mouth" Ralph Tognacci and his harmonica player Willis Wood.

According to our well-informed newspaper, "Rigoletto" is the present opera playing in Framingham, with vocalists Corinne McManus and Daniel Sullivan in the leading rôles. Dora Zanella has entered a full page ad for her dress shop, where Eda Moscatelli, Virginia Garry, and Florence Hedburg are employed as sales-girls, and where Virginia Galvani, Sarah Gennario, and Helen LePore model the outstanding creations; Marie Jordan and Helen Winch also work here as yarn winders. Dick "Gluefoot" Walsh, professional ice skater, is already booked for the Ice-Wipers of 1961-62, and with his shoelacer, Gabriel Lamagna, and his private secretary, Pauline Rocheford, is reported to be in Framingham at Peter Senecal's ultra modern hotel, where Joseph "O'Toole" O'Malley, the desk clerk, can be found either sleeping on the job or surrounded by a bevy of gorgeous patronesses. Here also is Walter Munger, engineer of the dish washing machine, who obeys orders given by chief cook and bottle washer Florence Lapina. "Pete" has James Ward, the noted lawyer, handle all his suits and makes sure that James Luby is the presiding judge in each case. Viola Jubinville, Rita Ottaviani, June Petherick, and Rosemary Giallombardi are the waitresses, under the supervision of hostess Corinne Wilbur, and report each morning to timekeeper, Sylvia Whitman. As an added attraction, the hotel boasts of a fine hairdressing shop run by the noted hair stylist Helen Buianowski. She is aided by Margaret Haggerty, Marie Mail- hoit, and Angela Lapenta, with "Linda Powers as manicurist and Jennie Costanza as Helen's private secretary. Sophie Olszewski has recently been appointed switchboard operator, succeeding Ruth McGraw, who left on her honeymoon.

Joseph Ferro, chief dairyman of Wau-shakum, has bought all the old straw hats in town and is feeding them to his cattle. Audrey Callahan, his secretary, is busy milking the cows, aided by Mary Jennings and Ruth Johnson. Cattle inspector Nancy Gavin had previously tested the bovines.

In the paper there is a picture of Mary Adams, President of the Framingham Kindergarten, who it is announced by her private secretary, Yvette Mailhoit, is planning a recital to be given by all the lads and lassies in her midst. Livia Dellasanta, well-known lyric writer, is to pen words for the music, which was composed by Frances Speranza, and Muriel Pleshaw and Norma Nobilini are to design the costumes for these future artists. Added to this announcement is a report made by school nurses Marion McGaughey and Annette Thibault, stating that the rate of absences in the Kindergarten has decreased.

The boys having had their shoes shined,

we were on our way again. In order to get to our destination, we had to go through a newly erected park, named "Lovers' Paradise," which had been planned by architects Joan Lynch and Dona McDonald. When we were halfway through the park we spied Palma Marchetti and Anita Misalsky, holding tightly the arms of a couple of handsome marines, who were making no effort to escape. A little farther on we saw Mary McLaughlin, famous lovelorn columnist for one of our leading magazines, in deep thought, while beside her sat her private secretary, Margaret Bouchard, rapidly writing at Mae's dictation.

After leaving the park, we agreed that we had done a good job at "snooping" into the affairs of our former fellow classmates, so we voted unanimously on the motion that we each go home and go to bed. Joe and Don took Margie and me to my house, as she was spending the week-end with me, and then they bade us "au revoir" and left. It is very probable that we all dreamed similarly that night. Thus ended our survey of that supercolossal, magnificent, stupendous, philanthropic, magnanimous class of 1941—may it exist forever!

Class Will

To all those who were taken in by the Philomath sales talk managers or by the Banquet Committee:

We, the largest and most glorious class ever to be tutored by the F. H. S. professors and teachers, hereby make public our last will and testament.

CLASS REQUESTS

Premier: We give to our grand and wonderful school lunchroom tables so large that there will be no eating of ham sandwiches by mistake, when you know definitely that you had a hamburger in your hand the minute before.

Deuxième: To the high school, we leave a gym large enough so that Mr. Jones' classes won't have to make every move simultaneously so that all of them can exercise at once.

Troisième: We give to Miss Squires a phonograph record that says all during the year, "Please be quiet," and at the end of the year says, "Don't let me see those pictures after the bell rings if you want to see them again."

Quatrième: To Mr. Cassidy, we give assurance that one of our gangster members will "knock off" some teacher during the summer so that he may become a "regular."

Cinquième: To Mr. Magoon we leave a two-way telephone system to assure him that all broadcasts have been received and that repeating will be unnecessary.

Sixième: We unanimously bequeath to the juniors and "half-pint" sophomores, who will be experiencing the wonderful feeling of graduation in a year or two, all our worn-out facilities and faculties, plus our knack of getting around teachers, our way of getting time slips in without making up full time and last, but not least, our superabundant knowledge.

Septième: For the benefit of the juniors and sophomores (to keep them company for a year or two) we leave behind a very few unfortunates who have not successfully completed their high school course.

Huitième: To Mr. Lundberg, we leave enough copies of Emily Post to be passed out to his pupils who do things wrong, thus relieving him of repeating "If Emily Post approves of it, it's okay with me."

Neuvième: To Mr. Riordan, we give a competent executive committee for the Boosters' Club, to boost the boosters.

PERSONAL BEQUESTS

One: I, Gus "Warm-up" Bartoli, bequeath my talent as a football player and my position as special confidant of Coach Daniels to Richard Lawson, with the hope that he will be as thrilled as I was at the call of battle.

Two: I, "Beautiful Dreamer" Coyne, leave my dozing ability and a pillow for comfort's sake to Captain "Jughaid" Chiudioni for extra relaxation in school.

Three: I, "Downwind Jaxon" Clinton, leave to that up and coming junior Eddie Schell my code book of "De-Icers" and hope that he can please them all.

Four: I, "Mow-'Em-Down" Fedolfi, leave my technique as a "bouncer" to "Boxcar" McKeown III, to be used on any little boy.

Five: I, "Not-Over-Fifty-Club" Muto, leave my driving ability par excellence, to any junior or sophomore able to outdistance the law.

Six: I, Pauline "Sweet-Fifteen" Rocheford, leave to Barbara "Oomph" Hill my acting ability for use in next year's senior play.

Seven: I, "Queen-of-the-Debs" Gorman, leave that "Never-to-be-Forgotten" personality to my sister Barbara, "Debbie II," for all-around use.

Eight: I, Nancy Gavin, leave my cooking and prize winning abilities to Barbara "Stepin-Fetchit" Harrington for use in the rudiments of home budgeting.

Nine: We, Joan and June "Aren't We Cute" Lynch, leave our dual personalities and athletic abilities to Nancy and Janice "It's-the-Red-Hair-That-Gets-'Em" Woodward.

Ten: We, Charlie "Snowshoes" Sage and Dan "Waltz-Me-Around-Again" Sullivan, leave our speed and deftness to George Mooney and Eligio Ferazzi.

Eleven: I, Phyllis "Gee-Ain't-He-Handsome" Murphy, leave my ability as a coquette to Norma "Hya-Judge" Smith, in hopes that she can attain the success that I have had in high school.

Drawn up on this beautiful day, very few more of which we will spend in high school, I hope, I hope, I hope, the first day of May in the year of Our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and forty-one by (Signed) Class of 1941.

glider. On May 9 in Nevins Hall, the orchestra, band, and boys' and girls' glee clubs gave a combined concert, with Mr. Thompson conducting. There was an excellent attendance at the affair, the first of its kind ever attempted by the school. On the following Friday, the whole student body produced a most successful Carnival. The success of this great undertaking was due, in no small part, to the fine advertising of the Boosters' Club. All through the year, we enjoyed the benefits of the public-address system realized as a result of the class gifts of '38 and '40, and a contribution of the school department. President Gray of Bates paid us a visit in the early spring, to present to the school a cup won by three of the members of last year's graduating class. Joan Cloeck, Dorothy Yates and Elaine Bush had continued their highest scholastic accomplishments at Bates.

We as a class have been more or less of a windy venture, in with the hurricane and out with the draft. The rush of graduation activities finds us at this our Class Night. If we can remember the words of President Gray, and if we practice the lesson they teach, we cannot help being a credit to our school, our teachers, our parents, and our country. President Gray said:

"The best way in which we can aid the Government in this national emergency is by doing the ordinary, humdrum, and often uninteresting duties of life, daily, and with as little complaint as possible."

James Luby, '41.

Class Song

Words by Audrey Hofmann

Music by Janet Waters

Now we are leaving to go into life,
But we'll always remember you;
Lessons we've learned and the friends
we've made
While under the white and blue.

All our good times we'll remember,
And the ideals we learned, too; so,
To be worthy of Framingham High
Our best we will always do.
